

Knee Deep Into History Battlefield Tours

7-Day Battle of the Bulge International Small Group Battlefield Tour 12 – 18 September 2021

Knee Deep Into History... Hitler had decided to put all his eggs in one basket to defeat the Western Allies with one great push, the operation “Wacht am Rhein.” Starting on 16 December under terrible weather conditions the German Panzer Divisions broke through the thin American frontlines. Despite a strong resistance by several American units, the German Army made its way west. The famous “Kampfgruppe Peiper” advanced under circumstances that became tragic for all.

Soon the German units arrived at the main center of communication in that region, the town of Bastogne. The grim defense of Bastogne, mainly units from the 101st Airborne Division, became famous and stands now for the strong will of the Allied Commanders and the simple GIs to finally defeat the Third Reich.

On Christmas Eve 1944 the reconnaissance battalion of 2nd Panzer reached the most western point of the bulge, only some kilometers away from the Meuse River at Dinant.

Already from 22 December on, American counterattacks on the southern part of the Bulge had started to open the way to Bastogne. Finally, on 26 December the first Sherman tank made its way into the town. At latest from this day on, the German commanders realized that this offensive failed and that further fighting would be senseless. Nonetheless, the fights continued almost until the end of January 1945.

Explore this fascinating and deadly chapter of WW2 as part of our international small-group tour!

Day 6—Friday, 17 September—Focus on American attacks to break through the German lines and advance toward Bastogne.

However, we caution that things can go wrong (traffic, accidents, protests, etc.), and Knee Deep Into History Battlefield Tours LLC assumes no responsibility for delays.

About Knee Deep Into History Battlefield Tours and its Philosophy

Knee Deep Into History Battlefield Tours was founded by Randy Gaulke after he spent eight months during 2017-18 as a freelance guide to the American battlefields of WW1. During those eight months (and the prior thirty years) Randy's tour philosophy has evolved. Key tenets of his philosophy include:

1. A preference for guiding small-group over large-group tours; to ensure greater interaction with the guides.
2. Getting clients into the field as much as possible; in contrast to a "museum and memorials" tour.
3. Attempting to present a balanced view of both sides of the story.
4. Designing a tour for those seriously interested in history.
5. Introducing clients to local, not American, culture.

General Tour Format

- Clients have the option of being picked up at Brussels Airport (BRU) or arranging their own transportation to our starting hotel in Luxembourg.
- The tour will be conducted in an air-conditioned coach.
- During the first half of our tour we will be staying at the Hotel Du Lac in Bütgenbach, Belgium, a highly-ranked three-star traditional European hotel / restaurant. (<https://www.hoteldulac.be/fr/>)
- During the second half of our tour we will be staying at the Hotel Reiff in Fischbach-les-Clervaux, a highly-ranked three-star traditional hotel / restaurant. (www.hotel-reiff.lu)
 - In the event that this tour fills completely, we might need to add a few rooms in a neighboring hotel, just a few kilometers down the road.
- This small-group tour is designed to enable maximum interaction between participants and guides.
 - Size is limited to about 16 participants and two tour guides.
- This tour is a battlefield tour. Because there is no substitute for walking the terrain, some walks of moderate length and pace will be included.
- Participants should expect to be "in the field" from 09h00 to somewhere around 17h00, regardless of weather.
 - Participants should bring appropriate clothing for the field, and nicer clothes for evening meals.
- Spouses and mature young adults are welcome, but please understand that there will be limited down time for sightseeing or time off.
- Regarding meals:
 - Continental breakfast will be served at the hotel.
 - Boxed lunches will generally be eaten "in the field" to conserve time.
 - Afternoon beverages and snacks will also be available.
 - Multi-course dinners will generally be eaten at the hotel restaurant starting around 19h00.
 - Traditional European dinners often last two hours +/-; and this gives participants a chance to socialize and share their thoughts on the days' activities.
 - Participants are responsible for their beverage costs at dinner.
- The Military cemeteries that we will visit include the Ardennes American Cemetery, Neupré, Belgium; Deutscher Soldatenfriedhof Recogne-Bastogne; and Commonwealth Hotton War Cemetery in Hotton, Belgium.
- Our philosophy, the size of the battlefield and the short duration of the trip means that we will only visit a few of the better museums in the area.
 - Participants are welcome to arrange their schedules to spend additional time in the area before or after the tour.
- German historian and retired Bundeswehr officer Markus Klauer is bringing his expertise as a second tour guide. (Many military history tours offer only one guide per tour.)
- We hope to make this an "international" trip, as the tour is being marketed to Markus' European clients too.

Meet Tour Guides, Randy Gaulke and Markus Klauer

Randy Gaulke has been visiting battlefields since the mid-1980s. In 2017 he left the corporate world and in 2017-18 he lived and worked eight months in France as a freelance guide to the WW1 battlefields during the WW1 Centennial. His experiences during those eight months convinced him to follow his passion and start a tour business. Randy has visited the Ardennes several times since 2010. He lives in Gillette, NJ and speaks English and German fluently. He is becoming more proficient in French. He also maintains the website, <https://meuse-argonne.com> and the Meuse-Argonne.com Facebook group.

Markus Klauer retired from the Bundeswehr in early 2018. His military career included five years in an armored division. With his newly found free time Markus has been expanding his battlefield research to the battlefields of WW2, including the Ardennes, Sedan 1940, Normandy and the Seelow Heights near Berlin. Like Randy, Markus has been a passionate student of WW1 history for several decades, and he has guided countless German, French and American groups. He has also written five books in German and his website can be viewed at: <https://gb.weltkriegsbuch.de/>. Markus lives in Lille, France. He speaks German English and French fluently.

Randy and Markus have known each other for 27 years. Both share a deep love of historical research and a desire to get their clients into the field. With their language and cultural skills, both understand the “other side” and both strive to present a balanced view of the combat.

Feedback from Randy’s and Markus’ 2018 Small-Group Battlefield Walk Series

In September 2018 they organized a Small-Group Battlefield Walk Series: Meuse-Argonne and St. Mihiel that was very well received by tour participants. Additional feedback can be viewed on Randy’s Meuse-Argonne website.

“Randy and Markus, Thanks for a great tour experience. Well-chosen sites, good discussions in the field, great personal experiences—well done all around. I personally saw parts of the Meuse-Argonne in a completely different light, and so learned a lot.” John Snow, OK.

“These guys are the best. They truly walk you in the soldiers’ steps. My teenage son and I feel so lucky that we were able to have them as our guides. They provide you with a deeper understanding than any book or general tour.” Matt and Grant Treastor, KS.

“As your knowledge and great passion inspires. Thanks for helping me to connect to the American group—an aspect of WW1 you know I’m very enthusiastic about. Your organization was cool to enable great flexibility amongst people with a range of interests and great camaraderie resulted. I learnt tons and enjoy getting insight into the on-the-ground research you do. The detail appeals to me and it fits so well with my own project...” Andrew Mullen, UK.
